

Not sure where this came from! A bit before my time but the guy standing at the back 2nd right was there when I went to Robert Montefiore as it was then in 1969. I'm pretty sure he was the deputy head of the Juniors.

Staff at Whitechapel's Robert Montefiore Primary in Deal Street, c1952, showing teachers and dinner ladies. Front row centre is headmistress Miss Barnett, who died in the 1990s aged 105 mentary candidate in Richmond, Putney and Wimbledon, so far without success.

He no doubt realises that, provided we have free and fair elections in the Tower Hamlets in 2010, he stands no chance of retaining his council seat. He won't be missed.

Rob Hoveman
Assistant to George Galloway, MP
Respect Constituency Office

Where are they now?

CAN anyone help? We grew up as a family in the East End, but have since moved out of London.

My mum and another neighbour who lived in Hughes Mansions in Vallance Road, Whitechapel, both worked in the school meal service in the fifties, sixties, seventies and eighties.

They are now getting into their later 70s themselves and would like to find some of their old work colleagues.

My mum is called Lil Greenslade and her friend is Eileen Harris.

They worked in Robert Montefiore Primary school in Deal Street, Whitechapel, then moved with the school in Buxton Street round the corner.

The colleagues they are looking for are Jean Dixon, and two other dinner-ladies, Mel and Freda, whose surnames they unfortunately cannot remember.

They would welcome hearing from